

We Judge

We judge Christians for their daily prayers to Jesus,

We judge Muslims for fasting during the month of Ramadan,

We judge Buddhists for their meditative concentration.

We judge anyone that chooses to live differently from us.

Most of us spend our lives helping others,

following who we view as our savior,

And watching our behavior.

Every day belongs to reaching peace at the end of our time.

We judge, but why?

In the end, we all want the same thing, right?
